Forecast For Scotland
Issued by Met Office Aberdeen
at 0400 on Saturday 17 Apr 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Dry with sunny spells.

Today:
Rather cloudy start across the northwest and patchy mist or fog for Solway coast, otherwise a bright day with some long spells of, at times, rather hazy sunshine. Light southerly breezy for the mainland but strengthening over the Isles.

Tonight:
The northwest, and later west, will be mostly cloudy with outbreaks of mainly light rain. Southern and eastern Scotland see some long clear spells and a frost in places.

Sunday:
Western and northwestern Scotland remain cloudy with further occasional, mainly light, rain. Elsewhere it remains largely dry with sunny spells. Occasionally fresh southerly breeze, occasionally strong for the Isles.

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Northwest cloudy Monday with occasional rain but dry, bright elsewhere. Cloudier Tuesday with outbreaks of rain spreading southeast and turning cooler. Showery rain spreads south Wednesday, but southwest largely dry.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.